Free if you remove, must take all. Nice variety of vining, brushy and low-lying ground cover plants. These are drought resistant and turn beautiful colors in the fall.

Have pesky neighbors that cut through your yard? These plants leave unwanted guests with more than a warm-fuzzy feeling. Get these planted now before its too dry to replant.

Not responsible for death, injury or costly medical bills, remove at your own risk. Planting these in someone else's yard is the equivalent of chemical warfare and violates the Geneva convention and violators should be prepared to face the ramifications..
